There are many ways to become a millionaire. The obvious way is to find ways to make extra money; however, statistically most people don't become wealthier when they earn more money. They just adjust their standard of living to their new income level.

Smart people with a millionaire mind find ways to increase their income by producing additional revenue streams. They then either re-invest those earnings back into their financial endeavors, such as expanding their "side business," or putting that money to work by contributing more to their retirement fund.

There are hundreds of ways to make extra money starting today. That doesn't mean earning more doesn't require work or that it is easy, but when you take action, the sky is the limit. Ask any small business owner whose only intention was to make a few extra bucks to help pay the electric bill, and instead ended up with a multi-million dollar business.

8 ways to make extra money starting today:

Freelance: Time is money to most people, and you can help people save time by selling your services. Many small business owners are willing to pay someone a small fee to do their administrative tasks so they can focus on the bigger picture. Visit message boards and Craigslist to see what services you could offer people for a nominal fee. Maybe it is designing logos, transcribing interviews or consulting in your area of expertise.

Take a Hobby to a New Level: What is it that you already do that someone else could benefit from? You don't have to reinvent the wheel to make money, just do what has already proven to work and brand it with your own personality. Your skill may be the next million dollar idea.

Got Something to Say? Blog About It: Blogs are a very popular way to speak what's on your mind and get paid for it. With sites like Blogger.com, you can have your own free blog up and running in a matter of minutes and earning money with AdSense ads in a couple of days. If your topic is in a high-traffic niche, over time your blog can spiral into your own massive cash-generating machine. Become More Qualified: Do you want to get into real estate investments? Get an appraisal license and put your services out for hire. That way you learn how to appraise properties and get paid to uncover potential opportunities of your own. This idea can apply to almost any investment or business venture.

Polish off Your Resume: Take a couple hours this weekend to think about what you've accomplished, what your skills are, and how valuable you think you are. Are you earning what you are worth? If not, develop a personal marketing plan to secure a job that pays you what you deserve.

Get a 2nd Job: Getting a low-stress, part-time job can really boost your income, and you may even be able to find something you enjoy. If you're into mountain biking, get a job as a tour guide or at a bike shop. If you like to read, try the bookstore. If you can't commit to a schedule, look into being a real estate broker which carries a flexible schedule.

Become an Asset: When you provide value, you become indispensable. Go the extra mile at your job by being creative, help with training, and find a way to become the expert in a particular area. When you become the first person people think of when they need 'X' accomplished, you differentiate yourself. When you do become indispensable you will find yourself in a position of power and can negotiate your salary and position.

Set Goals and Think Big: It's amazing what you can achieve when you set your mind to things. Really think about why you want to make more money, write down those reasons, and then write down how much more you want to make. Bringing in an extra $100,000 can be done if that's what you put your mind to.

By being a little creative and finding the inner millionaire inside you, take advantage of your "downtime" in order to boost your income. There is no limit on how much money you could generate.
